

Mobile Violation and Work Order Software Jenark and Tracer Pro Integration

Description

Jenark has partnered with Tracer Pro to provide a GPS Enhanced Mobile Violation and Work Order Software. This wireless solution now replaces the paper-based method of creating and updating violations or work orders in the field – now field personnel and inspectors can work remotely in a more efficient manner. This integration allows users to take a picture of a violation, document details and wirelessly send the information directly to Jenark for automatic printing and tracking. With the click of one button, the data syncs directly into Jenark. From the office, letters can be printed with a picture, time and date stamped, and GPS coordinates. The software even works in dead zones! This easy-to-use integration ensures consistent data entry from the field, improves productivity, and saves time.

Benefits

- Enables properties to initiate standardized communications for violations and work orders
- Minimizes confusion and miscommunication of accuracy and authenticity of violation notices
- Provides an efficient way to create, update, and close violations and work orders
- Delivers real-time data for optimal efficiency

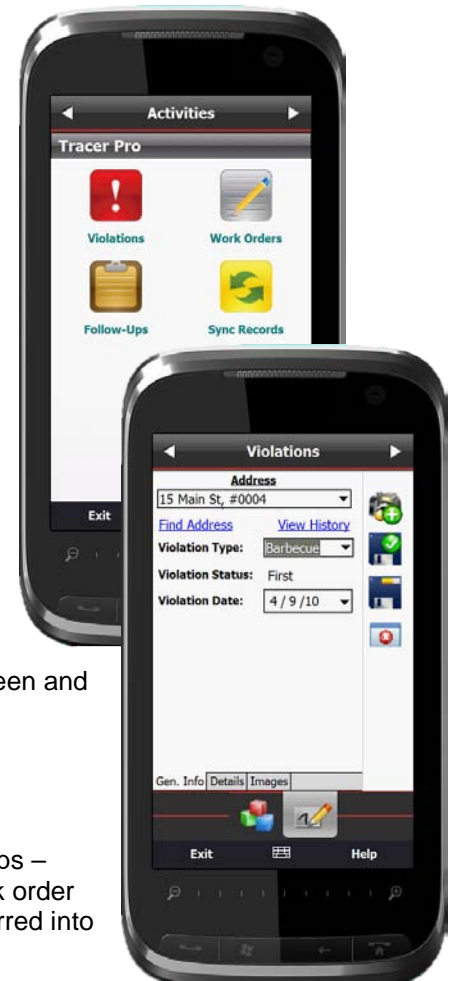

Features

- Comprehensive – pictures include date, time stamp and GPS coordinates
- Easy-To-Use – data is entered, pictures can be taken and data syncs with just a click of a button
- Adaptable – works with any Windows® mobile phone with a touch screen and software works without a signal in remote locations

How It Works

When in the field, violations and work orders can be completed in 3 easy steps – create, add, and push! You enter applicable information for the violation/work order with the option to add a picture, save, cancel, or sync and the data is transferred into Jenark so it can be managed at the office. It's that easy!

The Tracer Pro integration works in conjunction with all of our property management software versions. Whether for a management company or a self-managed community, this is a time-saving approach for violations and work orders.
